ROMULUS NEWS DIGEST

Police foot patrol to begin

Drug Awareness Resistance Education (DARE) officer John Leacher and a police cadet will begin foot patrols in various areas of Romulus, Lt. David Early revealed today.

During certain hours Leacher will be available for talks at local clubhouses or community rooms, Early said.

Leacher's current schedule will include regular visits to the Oakbrooke Townhouses on Mondays, Well-lesley Townhouses on Wednesdays and Fridays and Jones Subdivision on Tuesdays and Thursdays. The listed hours are from 7:30 a.m. to 2:30 p.m., Early said.

Other groups seeking to hear Leacher answer questions to local concerns should call Early at 942-6887 to schedule an appointment.

This program will continue through the months of July and August.

Music director switches churches

Peter Dodge of Belleville, who formerly served as music-youth director at the Community United Methodist Church of Romulus, has accepted an expanded position with the Trinity Wesleyan Church of Southgate.

In Romulus, Dodge developed a new outreach program for teens called Light Point, which encouraged youth to do volunteer work for senior citizens.

Dodge revealed his new position requires him to fill the roles of youth director and music director as well as singles program director.

A junior at Tyndale Bible College, Dodge hopes to complete his studies for a Bachelor in Arts degree with a major in youth studies by May 1995.

While working in his new post, Dodge said, he hopes to expand his efforts at the church and into the community of Southgate.

His work with singles will include efforts to widen the social and spiritual lives of unmarrieds and divorced persons.

Story time begins at library

Story time will be held every Tuesday night this month at the Romulus Library.

Former teacher and president of the Friends of the Library group Marjorie Bock will read short stories to children, ages 3 to 5, each Tuesday from 7 to 7:30 p.m.

Court arrests expected

The more than two month audit and investigation of operations at the 34th District Court in Romulus should be winding up in two weeks and criminal charges are expected to be pressed, State Police Sgt. Bob Peplinski said Tuesday.

Peplinski said he expects to present his evidence to the state attorney general's office soon and that office will decide what charges will be pressed and where the arraignments will be scheduled.

"Obviously the hearings will not be held at the 34th District Court," he said, "but the attorney general will designate what court will be used."

Circus opens tonight

By AL POST
ANP Staff Writer

The Franzen Brothers Circus arrived in Romulus this morning in preparation for two performances this evening.

Mark Lewkowicz, president of the Greater Romulus Chamber of Commerce, revealed the circus crew arrived at 8 a.m. today and a group of interested city residents were on hand to watch Okha the Elephant help set up the circus tent.

Lewkowicz said the famed petting zoo will open at 3:30 p.m. today with tickets costing $1. Many free tickets for the zoo have already been distributed to local merchants, churches and civic organizations.

In addition pony rides ($1) and elephant rides ($2) also will be available about that time.

Earlier Okha will stage a

Bill Crane

walk through downtown Romulus to remind residents of the circus' visit and through the cooperation of local businessman, Ron Brugger, will offer free rides for children in front of Brugger's soon-to-be opened store, Romulus Auto Supply Store on Goddard Road. The free rides will be offered from about 2:30 to 3:30 p.m.

The first circus performance is slated for 4:30 p.m. today with 1993 Person of the Year Bill Crane riding Okha into the tent to officially open the show. Later Lewkowicz will duplicate the experience at the 7 p.m. show, as he once again serves as guest ring master.

The Romulus Junior High School Touring Band also will perform between the two performances (from 6 to 7 p.m.) under the direction of Richard Kruse.

The Romulus Fire Department will also have one of its large trucks on display, Lewkowicz said.

Tickets for either performance will cost $6 and will benefit the local chamber.

This marks the second year in a row that the circus will perform in Romulus.

Leaders camp readied

By AL POST
ANP Staff Writer

Scores of Romulus Senior High School students, parents and Rotarians will take part in a three-day leadership camp next month that will serve as a prelude to a special leadership-service class that will open this fall.

Chuck Usztics, coordinator of "Project Serve," revealed the group (including 47 students) will meet Aug 25-27 at Camp Tamarack (located between Flint and Pontiac) to finalize the 1993-94 study projects.

As a prelude to the camp session, the group has been meeting at Romulus City Hall this spring and plans a final pre-camp session on Wednesday Aug. 18.

To date the student-adult group has selected four areas for potential involvement this coming fall: city-school district image, environmental issues, senior citizen topics and youth concerns.

The projects were selected after a survey was conducted and its findings discussed.

The "Project Serve" concept was born earlier this year, when the school was awarded a grant to foster student leadership in the field of community involvement.

With the Romulus Rotary Club serving as official sponsors, the students conducted a hour long highway clean-up session and began planning for other community projects later this year.

The students in August will be joined by Usztics, Principal Tom Dolan, local teacher Mark Anderson and Rotarians Bill Crane and Noah (Pete) Bergeron, who also serves as local councilman.

Anderson will lead the innovative sixth-hour class to be known as "Tomorrow's Leaders, when the school year begins in September.

The class idea was organized via the grant, when he was debated as to whether youth in the 90s were as community-minded as their peers of earlier decades.

The class will allow students to focus on current needs and how to meet them.

One proposal made at the earlier sessions was allowing students to elect a (non-voting) youth member to the Romulus City Council.

That representative would be allowed to speak on youth concerns at the city forum, but would not be permitted to vote on any city issue.

The proposal was raised to increase communication between the youth and their elected officials and to give youth a practical experience at the ballot box.

School videos given to city

By AL POST
ANP Staff Writer

A 10-minute video presentation displaying the Romulus School District technology program has been given to the City Council members by School Board President Edward L. Wilkerson.

The video created by Jostens Learning Corp. of California (at no cost to the school district) depicts Romulus students and educators in the act of using Jostens computer equipment in the classroom.

Wick Elementary School teacher Dorothy Murray-West said, "Our students have become more effective readers and writers in shorter periods of time since the technology has been added."

"It motivates them and stimulates them to want to do more," Murray-West stated.

Since the arrival of the technology, Murray-West, explained, "The students are anxious to write their own creative stories and to share them with other students."

Also depicted in the video are Superintendent of Schools Dr. William Bedell, who praised the Romulus Community School Board for being willing to take a risk on such a novel adventure in education; Art McPharlin, Bedell's administrative assistant and Chuck Shamey, principal at Wick School.

State office to move

The Romulus Secretary of State office on Goddard Road in downtown Romulus may be forced to move, but it will stay within the city limits.

Members of the City Council on Tuesday night were urged to approve a resolution supporting the request that the office stay within the city.

Mary Mangrum, manager of the local Secretary of State office, said Tuesday, "We are just growing so rapidly we need more room to operate and more parking for staff and residents seeking service here."

Mangrum and five other employees serve the community at the Goddard office near the Romulus IGA.

State Rep. Gregory Pitoniak (D-Taylor) said he would support the effort to keep the office within the city of Romulus.

Romulus student at capital meet

By AL POST
ANP Staff Writer

Fresh back from a Boys State experience earlier this summer, Eric Lambert has now repacked his bags and is headed for Washington, D.C.

Lambert this week is rubbing shoulders with U.S. Senators Carl Levin and Donald Riegle (D-Mich) and Rep. William Ford (D-Ypsilanti), while attending the National Young Leaders Conference in the nation's capital.

Lambert, oldest son of Councilman Russell Lambert and municipal employee Maria Lambert, was the only Romulus Senior High School student honored with such an invitation this year.

Earlier, he and two classmates attended Boys State, where they learned a great deal about the local, state and national governmental structure.

Lambert, who has yet to decide what line of work he will pursue in the future, will be seeking out colleges soon for enrollment following his graduation in 1994. Although undecided about a college or major field of study, he feels it will be in the math or science areas "because those are the subjects I do best in."

At Boys State, Lambert explained he and hundreds of other youth were exposed to potential governmental crises and urged to find potential solutions to those problems.

Today, Lambert begins another extensive six-day governmental study, this one strictly on a national level, entitled "The Leaders of Tomorrow Meeting the Leaders of Today."

During this process, Lambert will not only meet political leaders of this nation, but will also get to share ideas with members of the national media, the diplomatic corps and the other two branches of government, the Clinton administration and the federal judicial system.

The week-long experience will test Lambert's leadership skills, by involving him in a political simulation effort called "If I Were President."

During this time student participants will be selected to fill the roles of President Clinton and his Cabinet and urged to respond to an international

'80 graduate named 'Teacher of Year'

Dawn Collins-Gierak, a member of the 1980 graduating class of Romulus Senior High School, recently was named "Teacher of the Year" in Citrus County, Fla.

She is the daughter of Floyd and Ruby Collins, who still reside in Romulus.

The honored teacher earned her educational degree at Eastern Michigan University in 1989. She was working as a substitute teacher in Michigan, when she was contacted by Florida educational officials and offered a position there.

She currently serves as a special education teacher for students with severe or multiple impairments and was honored with the "Teacher of the Year" award at a recent luncheon.

The gathering of 350 students also will engage in a half day "Mock Congress on National Service" experience during which time they will be asked to assume the roles of local congressmen and women and take part in a detailed debate on youth service legislation.

During this time they will be asked to build coalitions amongst themselves and vote on various proposals.

With the twin summer governmental training sessions in Michigan and Washington, D.C., Lambert will have received plenty of hands on experience to help him decide if he wishes to follow his dad into governmental service.

When Lambert returns from D.C., he will be called upon to give a detailed oral report to his sponsors.

Later he will begin his senior year and once again take part in sports, playing baseball and golf, and resume his efforts with the school Symphony Band.

This past year, Lambert played second base for the Eagles and carried a handicap of 10 (on nine holes) on the golf course.

Lambert also is the first chair trombone with the local band.

In addition to his parents, Lambert has two younger brothers, Joseph and Julian, who will be waiting for a first-hand report on the Washington experience when he returns next week.

Dawn Collins-Gierak

Collins-Gierak and her husband, Robert, reside in Inverness, Fla. She currently is seeking her master's degree at the University of Florida.

ists, who use it for a speedway, and unauthorized dumpers, Pendleton said, causing many complaints from area residents.

While a few area residents have written letters complaining their real estate values will drop if the Salvation Army relocates there, lawyers for the Christian group say the reverse may happen if the $6 million rehabilitation center moves there.

The Salvation Army spokesmen said they only need about 18 acres of the 36-acre site for use and are willing to donate part of the other 18 acres to the city for sale or public use and will sell another portion to a compatible industry.

Both Raspberry and Banks had recently visited the rehabilitation site. The Salvation Army is offering tours to any of the objectors, either council members or local residents prior to the vote next week.

Lt. Col. Marcus Stilwell, commander of the Central Territory for the Salvation Army, continued to pledge that half-way house efforts with state inmates will not be allowed in the new facility.

If at first you don't succeed...

While elected state officials across the state have cited the failure of Proposal A to win voters' approval as evidence of the hostile political climate, we suspect there may be another message in that vote.

We think state taxpayers are a bit wiser than many of their elected officials give them credit for.

And while we did support this tax shift, we understand why many were not in favor of giving our state legislators another chance to promise one use for a tax and then use the funds in another way. Too many of these taxpayers have been duped by promises before and they have learned a painful and expensive lesson for their gullibility. They aren't about to be misled again.

And the defeat of Proposal A certainly doesn't mean that voters do not want tax reform and a change in the way schools are financed in our state. Find someone who agrees with the way schools must depend on local millages for the barest necessities to educate children in this area and you will have found a rare individual indeed. The fact is, nobody likes it, nobody supports it and nearly everyone criticizes the system. But it is the only one we have just now.

We urge our state legislators to try again. There must be a way to provide the children of our state with an education with the incredible amount of money which is funneled through the state and local taxation systems. They just haven't found out yet how to solve this problem.

The voters have soundly denounced Proposal A—but we do not believe that rejection means that a sound, reasonable solution to the problem will also be rejected. We think it means that this proposal was unacceptable for a number of reasons to the majority of those who went to the polls. Now, something else must be done.

We fully understand, too, that taxpayers in general are justifiably suspicious of their leaders and of any tax proposal which comes their way. The scars of Watergate, the Savings and Loan bail out and so very many others are deep and still, in many cases, sore. We are a disillusioned and jaded public, leery of our elected leaders and nervous about our economy. In that climate, the solution to any problem had best be a good one if it stands even a remote chance of approval.

But we cannot allow that suspicion and fear to cripple our system. We must find a way to solve our problems, particularly school financing, within the parameters of our state government. We cannot and will not ever be convinced that we do not have the intelligence and financial experience and expertise to do it.

Some of the smartest people we know are in Lansing. We hope they will make one more effort to find a better, more equitable solution to the problem that is crippling our schools.

We need a plan, and we need it now.

A call to action

Soon, residents in this area will have a chance to make some crucial changes in their communities.

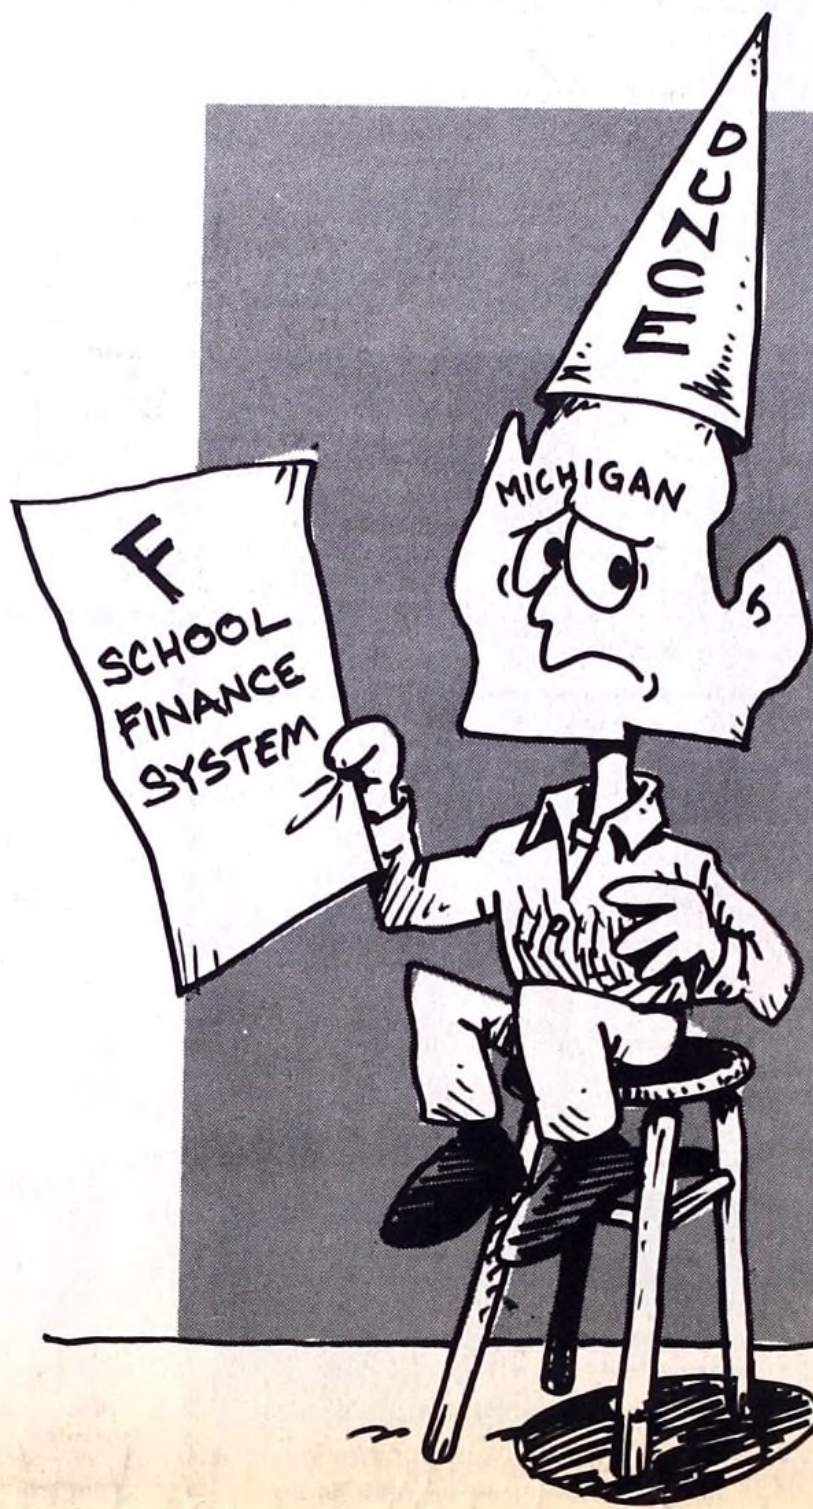

They've had these opportunities before, but many have not taken advantage of the situation. But, in September in Westland and then in November in a number of other communities, the opportunity for change will present itself in the voting booth.

We urge any local resident who is not registered to vote in these elections to go to their local Secretary of State office or municipal office and register to vote.

When the opportunity to make changes, or to show a vote of confidence in those who are seeking office as incumbents is available, we hope that every citizen will take advantage of the privilege.

If you haven't registered do so. If you didn't vote in the last election—you'll have another chance to be a part of the system of government which regulates your local taxes, sets policy in your schools and decides who will build in your community and what will and will not be permitted by local ordinance.

You have a right to be a part of it. That's the American way.

Editorial decision earns praise

To the editor:

Because I was quick to criticize, I would like to take time to commend your decision not to print anonymously written character assassinations.

I realize there are some instances when anonymity is only solution. However, I think your decision is sound and much more like the Eagle of old. Your upholding of journalistic standards is appreciated and not unnoticed.

Victim will be remembered

To the editor:

We are reading the media's observation regarding the motorcycle accident involving Damon Painter through our tears.

Our children were his friends and if we did not know better, reading about Damon would lead us to believe that he and his friends are wild hoodlums. It saddens our hearts to see what is printed, knowing that what we read is only a few disastrous seconds of a youth's perceived immortality, in a life that was so full.

Thinking of Damon will always make us smile. He enjoyed life and had a great sense of humor. Everyone who met him was his friend. His life cannot be summed up in a few paragraphs, but it is much more than an unfortunate motorcycle accident, just ask anyone who knew him. Those who knew him could tell of many warm and humorous moments with Damon.

School millage renewal urged

To the editor:

On June 14, we decided to make a change in the Wayne-Westland school district with two new board members. The vote spoke for itself. We wanted a change and those of you who didn't vote, you should not complain.

Now it is time for us as taxpayers to do something positive. Vote in the millage renewal in the fall.

It is imperative that we keep this school district open. A lot of school districts are hurting, not just ours. We can set an example for a positive change in the county. Garden City did it—we can too.

If our kids are not in school, where do you think they are going to be? They will be on the streets doing who knows what. Sixteen thousand kids on the street with nothing to do, mad at their parents, mad at school, just mad at everybody because they aren't in school getting their education.

Our kids are our future. It's up to us as taxpayers, and, certainly as parents, to vote in a millage renewal in the fall so we can insure our kids' future, keep them off the streets, and away from crime. We have too much crime now—let alone putting 16,000 kids on the streets with nothing to do but vent their anger at us for not assuring their education.

Gays in military called ludicrous

To the editor:

The persistent attempts of homosexuals to enter the U.S. military as such displays just how erratic certain factions in this country have become and determined to force their will upon others. No longer content to "come out of the closet", homosexuals are blatantly attempting to coerce others to accept their lifestyle. Why should one's sexual preferences, especially perverse ones, even become a consideration on entering the service?

Consider the purpose of the military. The intent is to protect and defend this country against aggressive enemies, those that would force themselves upon us against our will. Of late, the most aggressive enemy has been doggedly attacking the president's reluctance to admit homosexuals entry into the service as such.

Allowing homosexuals the special privilege of entering the service as gays would only undermine the military purpose. This would be similar to letting the fox in the chicken coop. Why would one allow the homosexual faction to undermine the military directive?

It is difficult enough fighting the enemy on foreign soil. Imagine allowing the enemy within military camps, undermining the strength of military men by allowing homosexuals the right to indulge in their sexual preferences therein. Imagine the military being used as a playground for sexual perversion and servicemen being exploited and victimized by the homosexual faction. It's ludicrous.

Homosexuality is already present within the military, but not with the forced acceptance of veterans. If those indulging in homosexuality want to defend this country from the enemy, let them join the military as "males", not as homosexuals. If the intent of these persons is to use military personnel as a smorgasbord of sexual indulgence, then they have become the opposition to the military purpose and this country.

Our military men who willingly joined the service to defend this country and give their lives for it should not have to become victimized by factions whose main concern is self-indulgence, self-service and not doing a service to this country.

Second millage request urged

To the editor:

While we are appreciative of the many people who voted in favor of the renewal and the additional millage on June 14, they were outnumbered by those who voted in opposition to the additional millage, and so it failed.

In order to operated with the available funding, the Board of Education is now making the necessary budget cuts and is wrestling with the difficult decision of once again asking for millage to properly operate our schools.

We urge them to again make that request. As we review the election we see that many of the citizens in our community failed to vote. Perhaps when we see the devastation of the instruction and extra-curricular programs which will take place when the cuts are made, we will recognize more clearly the need to support our schools and, in turn, to support our community.

Meanwhile, we do thank all those who supported the millage and the hundreds of volunteers who worked so hard and in so many ways to let everyone know the issues and the need. Your efforts are very much appreciated.

WalkAmerica effort earns praise

To the editor:

Too often, the Detroit area gets a bad rap. It is because of this that I am compelled to write this letter.

On Sunday, April 25, metropolitan Detroit woke up to rain. It was gloomy, wet morning. Yet, that didn't stop 15,000 people from lacing up their walking shoes for the March of Dimes WalkAmerica for Healthier Babies.

As the chapter chairman for the Southeast Michigan Chapter for the March of Dimes, I would like to applaud the 1993 WalkAmerica participants.

The money in WalkAmerica will be used to fund the March of Dimes Campaign for Healthier Babies. The goal is to provide every child with a healthy start in life. With the continued support from volunteers like these WalkAmerica participants, we will achieve our dream.

Local teen named winner of national welding competition

By CRAIG GARRETT
ANP Staff Writer

They couldn't hold a torch to him locally, now even the best in the country can't touch him.

Don Neilson, a 19-year-old Inkster resident and Washenaw Community College (WCC) student, was recently named the finest secondary and post-secondary welder during national tournament activities in Louisville, Ky.

Promoted by the Vocational-Industrial Clubs of America (VICA) organization, the June 21-26 skilled trades competition featured students from as far away as Alaska in a variety of crafts ranging from plumbing and masonry to culinary arts.

The competition, Neilson said, called for a series of written and hands-on skills that tested a student's knowledge of his/her chosen trade. Some 80 students in welding divisions were handed a set of blueprints and were expected to evaluate and complete the design within a set time frame.

"I've seen a number of tremendous success stories over the years, but Donny certainly is in a class by himself. He's a serious, dedicated young man with very supportive parents."

- Dr. William Pettis

They also were asked to trouble-shoot a design according to instructions.

Judges looked to see if competitors first understood the process, and secondly manufactured the test design with appropriate and secure welds.

Neilson learned the final day of competition that he had earned the judges approval and recognition as the most skilled student welder in the country.

"I was pretty confident that I'd do well," the William D. Ford Vo-Tech graduate said, "but I didn't think I'd be the best. It feels really good."

The Inkster teen also recently joined with 100 University of Michigan engineering, graphic and industrial design and business students in their group effort to build Maize and Blue, a solar-powered car that students had hoped was better and faster than Sunrunner, the original U of M solar-powered vehicle that won the 1990 General Motors Sunrayce USA. Neilson was commissioned to perform welds on the brake pedal, motor and body mounts and the rack-and-pinion steering column. Maize and Blue recently won the cross-country race by 90 minutes over its nearest competitor.

Neilson, now targeting 1995 world competition in France, studied at the Ford Vo-Tech center under Dr. William Pettis.

"I've seen a number of tremendous success stories over the years," Pettis said, "but Donny certainly is in a class by himself. He's a serious, dedicated young man with very supportive parents. I wish every young person could see life as clearly as Donny does."

Neilson said he'll continue practicing his high-demand craft for world competition, but for the time being plans to enjoy the new welder he won in Kentucky, a gold medal and a part-time job earning $12 an hour.

"I'm going to start working Saturdays," he said, "maybe I can earn some extra money in the driveway."

Inkster teenager Don Neilson recently took top honors as the nation's number student welder. He hopes to compete in 1995 for a world title.

Westwood lawsuit contends: Mega-Athletic Conference in violation of Civil Rights Act

By TOM MOORADIAN
ANP Staff Writer

Stressing that the newly-organized Mega Conference "diminishes its athletic potential to participate and compete", the Westwood School District last week filed a complaint with the State of Michigan, the Department of Civil Rights, under the Elliot-Larsen Act.

Westwood, through attorney G. Daniel Ferrera, stated in a complaint that it has exhausted all other means and diplomatic approaches to persuade the respondent (Mega Conference), as have other districts similarly situated, to voluntarily permit Westwood to join the Mega Conference without avail.

Westwood, made up of students from Inkster and Dearborn Heights, has a student population of about 2,500. It becomes the second local school district that has filed a Civil Rights complaint against the Mega Conference, which is scheduled to begin competition this fall.

The Mega Conference Athletic League was originally proposed in 1991 and would bring together schools 23 school districts which were affiliated with the Wolverine "A" Conference, Tri-River and Northwest Suburban. However, the newly-organized conference has only a small percentage of African-Americans in their school systems.

According to the student enrollment when the league was created in 1992, the minority percentages are: Allen Park -.09 percentage; Belleville (.04); Crestwood (.04); Dearborn (.31); Garden City (.255); Gibraltar (.34); Lincoln Park (.61); Melvindale (1.61); Redford Union (1.10); Southgate (.77); Taylor (.742); South Redford (1.62); Wayne-Westland (10.07); Woodhaven (2.68) and Wyandotte (1.28). The percentage rates for Monroe and Dearborn Heights No. 7 are not available.

In their rationale for the new conference and the merger, Mega Conference officials said at the time that the new league would "increase parity within athletic competition and possibly increase the number of league sports, that is, tennis, soccer, hockey and gymnastics - sports that some schools have difficulty filling rosters. They also stressed that the new league would expedite the process of obtaining Michigan High School Athletic Association officials as well as reduce the necessity for long distance travel.

Local schools directly involved in the merger include Wayne Memorial and Belleville which have competed in the Wolverine "A" Confer-

Mark LaPointe, Canton High School varsity baseball coach with an enviable 22-12 first season record and the Western Lakes Conference title under his belt, has resigned the Chief's top spot citing personal reasons.

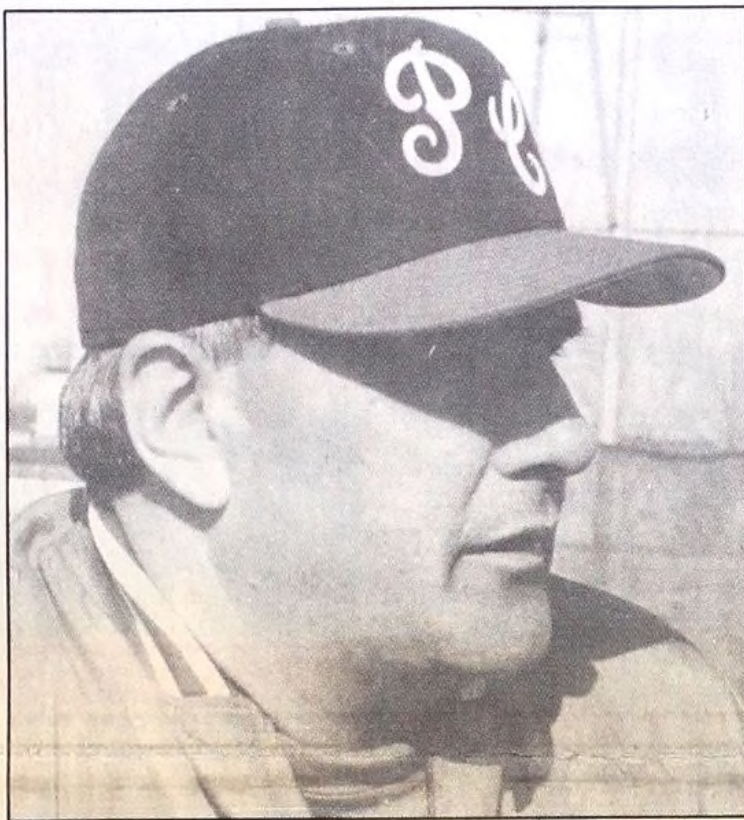

The 42-year-old veteran coach and Eastern Michigan University graduate officially resigned June 18 after weeks of personal debate and internal conflict.

"Coaching takes a lot from you," LaPointe said recently, "my teaching (Central Middle School) was even suffering. You're just constantly in motion, and I needed to stop and spend more time with my family. It was a very tough decision. I actually sat down and wrote my resignation the last day of school."

LaPointe took over the Chiefs' top baseball job from long-time coach Fred Crissey last year after 18 seasons as Crissey's assistant.

LaPointe also ran the Thurston High School (Redford Township) football program from 1980-83 and served as coach of the Catholic Youth Organization while attending Eastern Michigan as a starter for the Hurons football team.

This season the Chiefs unexpectedly racked up an im-

In a surprise move last week, first-year Plymouth-Canton baseball coach Mark LaPointe resigned. In his only season as the head coach, LaPointe compiled an enviable 22-12 won-lost record, which included the division and the Western Lakes Conference titles. pressive 22-12 record under the leadership of senior first baseman Michael Stafford, named to the All-State second team.

Stafford also recently signed a national letter of intent to play with the Ohio State Buckeyes, one of two freshmen on the reigning Big 10 champion's starting squad.

"I'll probably still coach at the middle school level or do some umpiring," added LaPointe. "But for right now I plan to continue teaching, do some neglected work around my home and spend time with the kids (ages 11 and 9). I'll be busy all summer."

School officials have not announced a replacement and the position will be posted.

However, the school district has tentatively suspended extra-curricular activities, including athletics, due to financial problems in the school district. The district is looking at a $5 million deficit for the upcoming school year.

The school board has decided to place a 4-mill tax increase on the Aug. 17 ballot. If approved by voters, the school board has promised to reinstate all of the activities they are presently contemplating cutting.

80 runners compete in 15th annual Canton run

More than 80 runners, representing a wide-range of local and area communities, took to the field Saturday for the 15th annual five-mile run. The run is sponsored by the Canton Township Parks and Recreation Department.

When the runners finished their gruelling tour of the five-mile course, they trailed 37-year-old Kathleen Donohue of Detroit across the finish line. Donohue was the first female runner to finish the course. She was clocked in 36:29.

Romulus cage duo sign letters

Two outstanding Romulus High cagers have signed letters of intent to attend Siena Heights College in the fall, according to head cage coach Fred Smith.

Daniel Winston and Roger Williams, named to the Associated Newspapers' All-Area Team in March, will be playing for the Saints.

Williams, a 6-6 center/forward, also earned All-State recognition.

"Roger has an excellent touch around the basket and moves extremely well for his size," Smith noted.

Winston is a 6-1 guard who started all four years at Romulus. He averaged 12 points and five assists as a senior and also earned All-State recognition.

"Daniel is a great athlete who can play either guard spot," Smith commented. "Both had solid high school careers under coach Chris Molloy, who does a great job at Romulus."

Smith stressed that Roger and Daniel will be strong additions to the Siena Heights program "because they play hard at both ends of the court and have great attitudes."

Siena Heights is located in Adrian (Michigan).

On ice Inkster skater improves skills

With an eye on sharpening his hockey skills, an Inkster skater attended hockey camp last month in Houghton.

Phillipe Seps attended the prestigious Michigan Tech University Hockey Development Center to improve and enhance his on-ice skills.

At the camp, Seps honed his stick-handling, passing, shooting, skating and checking skills through rigorous drills and challenging scrimmages.

In addition to his on-ice activities, he also received training in the off-ice development center. Each participant not only is involved in classroom instruction, which includes video critique, but receives a full written evaluation of his playing and skating abilities at the conclusion of the camp.

Michigan Technological University, home of three NACC championship hockey teams, started the hockey development center 22 years ago under legendary hockey coach John MacInnes. Instructors, including top high school and college players, provide individual coaching for young hockey players ages 8 through 17.

All-area Top baseball players coming up

The 1993 Associated Newspapers' All-area High School Baseball Team will appear on these pages next week.

The team, and the ANP Coach of the Year, is selected by the ANP sports staff in cooperation with the prep coaches and will include blue chip athletes representing Plymouth-Canton, Plymouth-Salem, Westland John Glenn, Wayne Memorial, Belleville, Romulus, Inkster and Dearborn Heights Robichaud.

Because some of the coaches and players were out of town for the July 4th holidays, the lineup of the team has not been finalized.

Coaches who have not submitted the names of their candidates should contact the ANP sports desk by telephone (729-4000). Thank you for your cooperation.

Under the guidance of coach John Albrecht, the Rockets soared to the 1993 Westland Youth Athletic Association Intermediate Division basketball championship. The champs, with only one loss to their 13-1 record, dominated the 13-14 age bracket, sweeping through the post-season tournament. Members of the championship team included: Paul Reno (front row, from left), Bill Broadway, Paul Stuart and Paul Robertson; second row are coach Albrecht, Bryce Loughlin, Dave Drys, Albert Jones and John Albrecht. Not available at the time of the photo were team members Michael Harrison and Trevor Davey. ANP Special Photo ence. Romulus, whose African-American student makeup is 30.2 percent, Inkster, and Robichaud, located within the Westwood School District, were not extended an invitation to compete in the new league.

Romulus School District officials and the board of education have also filed a complaint with the state, arguing that their intentional exclusion violates the civil rights of their students. Westwood school officials note that the actions by the members of the Mega Conference officials are "intentional and malicious" and that the students from the petitioning school districts are being denied an opportunity to further their athletic and educational goals." Mega Conference officials informed the school districts, through letters to their athletic department heads, that the Mega Conference Board of Directors felt that "after considerable debate regarding expansion, the overarching feeling is that we need time to see if the existing structure is viable." No date has been set to hear the Westwood complaint.

New cable television regulations may affect area programming

By CRAIG GARRETT
ANP Staff Writer

Current bargaining or renegotiation talks between cable firms, municipalities and major television networks across the country have been put on temporary hold until new laws regulating the cable industry are put into effect by Oct. 6.

"Everything's come to a screeching halt until impact of the new regulations are worked out," said Larry Monroe, whose New York firm Municon, is in the process of renegotiating an agreement with Omnicom cable, the local franchise servicing Canton viewers. The current 15-year contract with Canton expires in 1995. "We're probably looking at September or October before the FCC (Federal Communications Commission) figures out their own law. I can't fault the (cable) industry for the delay, I'm sure they'd like to see what's going to happen first."

Monroe said the 500-plus page Cable Television Consumer Protection and Competition Act, enacted into law in 1992 despite former President George Bush's veto, is so lengthy, and "often vague" that "even the FCC doesn't know how to implement the act," Monroe added.

Aside regulating monthly cable rates, the cable act also mandates that broadcast stations, locally including channels 2, 4, 7, 50 and 20, choose between "must carry" status and "retransmission consent."

Omnicom General Manager Lisa Boland said her firm has received notification that several Detroit stations would not seek automatic cable carriage, but would instead seek to renegotiate a contract for carriage that could include a monthly service fee to Omnicom. And because the Cable Act prohibits cable firms from passing retransmissions costs to consumers, Boland said, "we may end up dropping major networks."

"The retransmission negotiations will likely cause more re-arranging of channels and may mean deletions of some of the networks," Boland added. "We truly hope that these negotiations do not lead to deletion of any broadcast channels from our line-up; however, we will be unable to continue (carriage) without their consent."

Three local television stations, WXON, WGPR and WADL, have agreed not to charge for retransmission rights, Boland added. Dropping major networks would mean expansion of existing cable programming to make up for the loss.

"Some people are going to be thrilled (with added cable programs)," Boland said, "and some with basic cable programming are going to be obviously angry. We just don't know what's going to happen right now."

She said a final determination, either way, will be made by mid-August, as Omnicom must notify viewers in writing of pending changes by Sept. 6, or 30 days before the Oct. 6 deadline.

Kayelen Perry, general manager of Continental Cablevision of Westland, said ultimately the Cable Act will "wind up costing (customers) more."

"As soon as extensive government regulation, in this case we're talking micro-management, steps in," Perry said, "the customer winds up paying for it. When they (FCC) ask for millions of dollars (some $12 million) to administer the Act, you know it's going to cost someone."

Perry said regulators have asked every cable operator to submit worksheets outlining customer and operational costs. New viewer rates will be ordered based on the FCC findings. But that doesn't mean customers necessarily will come out winners, Perry said. "If our rates are lower than FCC standards," said Perry,

"we may be forced to raise them (monthly rates). This could be construed as sour grapes, but when the FCC establishes rates we're going to abide by them. We always figured government interference would cost more, and it looks like it will."

How much did you lose last year on nondeductible interest?

7.90% APR.* FIXED RATE

Maybe you've noticed it while getting your taxes ready. All the interest you've paid on consumer loans that's not deductible.

Well, now's the time to think of a strategy for next year's taxes. And consider borrowing against the equity in your home.

At First of America, we can lock you into a low fixed 7.90 percent APR loan with terms of up to seven years. To make the offer even more attractive, all fees will be waived, so there will be no annual fee, appraisal fees, closing costs or points.

And you'll have a fixed monthly payment that will never change.

The sooner you take advantage of it, the more you can save on financing home improvements, education, a car or anything else worthwhile. You can even refinance a loan that you have somewhere else.

Be sure to consult your tax advisor to make sure the interest is tax deductible.

We can give qualified applicants fast approval—usually within 24 hours. So stop by any First of America office or call 1-800-735-1680 to apply today. And make last year's nondeductible interest a thing of the past.

That man can dance

Susan Willett

Just Desserts

This is a formal declaration of war.

It's my beloved husband who is the object of this threat, and he knows full well that I'm serious. I will not be married to a killer.

This battle began last week when my adored spouse was spotted doing a very strange little dance in the back yard. Since, as anyone who knows him can testify, my husband is not prone to this type of exhibitionism, this was a strange occurrence, indeed. My spouse is usually described by those who don't know him as well as others as a dignified, serious accountant-type person. HA! If they only knew.

But that's another story. Where was I? Oh yes, the silly little dance in the back yard which led to the death threat. It was sort of a one-footed hop with a wiggle of the hips and a twisting kind of movement with the opposite foot. Several neighbors stopped cutting the grass or similar chores to watch the performance. There were even a few whistles and cat calls. Tina Turner could take a few pointers from this guy. These were some moves.

Beloved spouse was not, however, engaged in this terpsichorean exercise to entertain the neighborhood. oh, no. He was hot on the trail of a visitor to the area, and that's really when the trouble began.

"Come here, look at this," he shouted, in a rather agitated tone. He was also a bit breathless, I might add, from the dance step, no doubt. "Just look at this," (step, wiggle, thrust, hop, step, wiggle). The grass is all soft and raised. Just look at this," (step, wiggle, hop, thrust, wiggle, wiggle). And then the pronouncement in a tone usually reserved for announcing a major catastrophe on the evening news. "I think we have...a mole."

Oh, good, I'm thinking, our grandson will love it. He can watch the little guy dig tunnels and see the holes and it'll be fun.

"I'll get a trap," my beloved announced in stentorian tones, "that'll do it," with a white-like murderous gleam in his eyes I've seen only in publicity stills of Freddy Krueger.

"Huh?" I responded, in my usual quick-witted fashion, "why'd ya wanna do that? C'mon, it'll be fun. I can put out some food for it. What do they eat, anyhow?"

"WHAT ARE YOU TALKING ABOUT? IT WILL KILL THE LAWN," he hissed in a fashion which can only be described as demented. And, even if it wasn't, it makes a much better story. "WE'LL HAVE TO RE-SOD."

Well, all right. I don't want that expense. But really, this great white hunter dementia is uncalled for. There must be other methods.

So far, none have worked. The little fella keeps tunneling and tunneling. He's criss-crossed the back and side yards numerous times. He's burrowed under the tomato plants and the rose bushes. He's obviously snacking on the lilac bushes which I just installed, and it appears that he may have nibbled through the sprinkler system in the back—it sort of dribbles now whereas it used to spray rather effectively.

But none of this is a capital crime in my book.

And besides, my grandson does love it. He chases him and shouts and giggles. He whoops with pure joy and makes the whole neighborhood smile as he pursues him

Light is just right

Yes, yes, yes, we should eat lighter meals. We all know we need more fresh vegetables in our diet. We all know that a good diet leads not only to a longer life, but a better one.

Sure, we know that certain foods lead and contribute heavily to depression and anxiety and we, too, have vowed to begin to purge the evil caffeine and sugar from our diet.

And we know that we need more fish to improve our memory and that peanuts will make us feel better.

But we just cannot live on lettuce and plain old tuna. Man was not meant to graze like a cow on acres of grains no matter how good they may be for us. And there is only so much one can do with tuna.

Clearly, it's time for a compromise. How about wonderful fresh salad ingredients mixed with unusual and wonderful spices, dressings and yes, even meat and poultry? How about salads that tempt us with tastes and textures that make our little taste buds stand up and cheer?

Yes, we can do it. There are ways to be healthy and enjoy meals at the same time. Try a few of these and see.

Remember, though, if you splurge on ice cream, candy bars or drink coffee or cola—you've defeated the nutritional effects sought.

Oh well, nobody lives forever.

Of Note

2 more peppermace attacks are reported

Vandals struck two separate Detroit Metro Airport hotels in recent weeks with peppermace attacks, according to hotel spokesmen. No one was injured in the attacks, they reported, but the incidents caused a major inconvenience at the facilities.

Hotel spokespersons said the vandals sprayed the peppermace in hallway entrances on June 25 and again on July 2.

"The first time we didn't know exactly what it was, we thought it could have been freon from air conditioners. But once we found it was a peppermace substance, we were able to air out the area in about five minutes," a spokeswoman said.

Left unattended the spray lasts about 20 minutes, she said.

Both Romulus police and fire officers were called to the scene both times.

One fire official said investigators have concluded the sprays are being purchased at area flea markets.

Police confiscate business records

Agents from the Internal Revenue Service, Drug Enforcement Agency and the Romulus police raided The Landing Strip restaurant and bar last week.

Romulus Police Chief Fred Dansby said Tuesday that his department initiated the raid of the establishment which features topless female dancers. He said the official visit by law enforcement officials was at 9 a.m. July 1, before the business opened for the day.

While refusing to say what the raiders were searching for, Dansby said agents did confiscate various office records. No arrests were made, according to the police chief.

Residents invited to Ford breakfast

U.S. Congressman William Ford is inviting residents of the Plymouth-Canton Township area to a free "Breakfast with Bill" from 9 to 10:30 a.m., July 17 at Palermo's Restaurant, 44938 Ford Road.

During the breakfast session the veteran U.S. Congressman will entertain questions and answers, plus report back on actions being taken in Washington D.C.

Examination scheduled for Wayne man

Due to the swift action of the Wayne Police Department a Wayne man was arrested after allegedly attempting to rob two businesses in the downtown area at 3:20 a.m. July 4.

Juan Aragon, 19, was arrested and charged with breaking and entering. He allegedly took jewelry from Michigan Auto Auction on Michigan Avenue and attempted to take jewelry from Leo's Jewelry on Michigan Avenue, according to Wayne police Lt. Mel Drews.

Raids net drugs, guns, explosives

By JENNIFER PLACINTO
ANP Staff Writer

Drugs, firearms and potential explosives were confiscated Wednesday in a major investigation by Westland police in conjunction with Romulus police, the federal Bureau of Alcohol, Tobacco and Firearms (ATF), the Michigan Bomb Squad and M-Set, a special group of area investigators, Westland police Sgt. Mike Gould said.

Police and federal officials obtained a search warrant for a home on the 28000 block of Leroy Street in Romulus and around 10:30 a.m., searched the location finding cocaine, weapons, and two pipes, often used for making pipe bombs, Sgt. Tim Abramski said. Robert Green, a 39-year-old Romulus man, and his unidentified wife were arrested at the scene, Abramski said.

"A sizable amount of cocaine, some weapons and explosive material were found at the location," Gould said.

Green was arraigned Friday before Romulus 34th District Judge William Szlinis on charges of possession with intent to sell cocaine more than 225 grams, but less than 650 grams and carrying a concealed weapon in a motor vehicle.

A plea of not guilty was entered and Green is being held on $200,000 cash bond. A preliminary examination was set for July 21 before 34th District Judge Henry Zaborowski. Green's wife was not charged in the incident.

After searching the Romulus home, Westland police subsequently obtained two additional search warrants for a house in Sumpter Township and a storage facility in Belleville, Gould said.

The lengthy investigation originated in Westland and searches were conducted from 6 a.m. to 11 p.m. Wednesday, Gould said.

Law enforcement officials found firearms and a small amount of cocaine during a search of a Sumpter Township house on the 45000 block of Harris Street, Gould said. No arrests were made at that location.

Officials also searched a storage facility on the 1900 block of Old Rawsonville Road in Belleville. No arrests were made, but firearms, narcotics and possible stolen property were found, Gould said.

If convicted Green could face 20 to 30 years in prison on the cocaine charge and up to five years imprisonment for the concealed weapon charge, Abramski said.

Hero

7-year-old pulls drowning toddler from family pool

By TOM MOORADIAN
ANP Staff Writer

Kyle Doudt received an early birthday gift this year - his life.

Kyle, who will be 3 years old Wednesday, was pulled to safety from the family's swimming pool by his 7-year-old cousin, Jesse James Saville.

"I would hate to think what would have happened if Jesse had not been there," said Ann Morantes, Jesse's aunt. "This story probably would have had a tragic ending."

Morantes related the dramatic events that led to Jesse's heroic actions. With temperatures climbing well into the 90s, the above-ground swimming pool at the Saville home in the 26000 block of Morley Street in the northwest section of the city of Inkster has been attracting a great many neighborhood children.

To get to the 4 to 5 feet deep water, youngsters have to climb onto a deck. And usually from there, it's a jump into the refreshing cold water.

On Tuesday, Kyle apparently watched as others dove from the sunbaked deck and he decided to try to do the same. He walked on to the deck without detection, then leaped into water. He immediately went under. Fortunately for the soon-to-be 3-year-old, would-be swimmer his cousin saw what was happening and dove in after him.

"We turned around and saw Kyle in Jesse's arms," said Morantes.

Jesse had managed to grab Kyle as he was going under and hold him above water until an adult arrived on the scene. The child coughed up water for a couple of seconds, but otherwise he was all right, according to his aunt.

"He didn't need to be hospitalized or anything like that," Morantes added.

In the meantime, Jesse, who loves water and has been swimming since he was 2, isn't saying much.

But you can bet that on Wednesday when Kyle's cutting his birthday cake, Jesse will receive a bigger than usual piece.

It isn't every day that a person is called a hero.

15 charged with sex-for-sale offenses

By TOM MOORADIAN
ANP Staff Writer

Fifteen men were arrested Tuesday night for attempting to buy sex from prostitutes in Inkster. Of the 15, nine also had their cars seized by Inkster police, and one area man also faces an additional charge of possession of marijuana, according to Inkster Detective Charles Hines.

The men were picked up in the vicinity of a popular triple X-rated movie house on Michigan Avenue.

"We had a couple of decoys out there," Hines said, "and these guys would approach them and ask for sex. Those who were in cars, we confiscated the vehicles and it's going to cost them to get those cars back if they are found guilty."

The defendants were released on individual $200 bonds.

The alleged incidents occurred in the Springhill Street-Michigan Avenue and Franklin Drive and Michigan Avenue area.

Police Chief Terry Colwell said, "The department plans to conduct a series of sting operations during the summer aimed at getting prostitutes and their johns off the street."

"I think the message is clear - that if you think you're coming into the city of Inkster to find sex, you will be arrested. So, my advice to these people is to save your family from the humiliation and embarrassment of being incarcerated."

In the meantime, a prominent Inkster motel owner asked city council members to level the burned-out shell of a building that attracts johns and prostitutes to the area.

Charles Marleau, owner of the Bungalow Motel on Michigan Avenue, said that the fire-damaged structure next to the motel is a haven for hookers and johns.

"I look out of our window day-after-day and see those hookers on the streets," Marleau said. "They come on to our property and nothing is being done."

Marleau questioned the effectiveness of sting operations.

"Why do we have these sting operations, anyway?" Marleau asked. "These women are arrested and they're back on the streets hours later, bragging that they beat the system."

Marleau got his answer from Inkster councilwoman, Sheila Evans Greene, a retired Wayne County deputy.

"It's the system - it sucks."

Striking carpenters halt subdivision construction

By CRAIG GARRETT
ANP Staff Writer

Giving them the benefits, no doubt, would nail down a compromise.

Dozens of primarily non-union carpenters have set up picket lines protesting a lack of health-care benefits from home builders in Canton Township.

Ralph Toreson, a veteran Garden City carpenter and independent contractor, said years of decreasing wages and cost-of-living allowances, coupled with a lack of medical benefits has soured skilled framers and carpenters and instilled a willingness to simply walk off the job with minimal strike pay prospects.

Non-union picketers, with tactical and emotional support from local skilled tradesmen representing the United Brotherhood of Carpenters (UBC), set up two lines Tuesday in the Glengarry new housing subdivision, completely shutting down home construction on expensive new units across from township administration offices off Canton Center Road.

"This is our Alamo," said Toreson, who has recently formed the independent United Residential Carpenter-Contractors Association (URCCA). "We can't ask (home builders) for the moon, but we can get health benefits. We need the security, especially in this business. One injury can ruin a man for life. We want the same consideration that builders give their supervisors."

Dear Bill,

We just didn't know. Had we realized sooner, Mr. President, that you were having trouble finding a suitable vacation spot, our invitation would certainly have been sent in time for you and your family to travel to our area to see some of our most famous summer sights.

As it is, you have missed the National Strawberry Festival in Belleville, the Sumpter Fest and the Westland Festival. We certainly would have asked you and Hillary to join the judges of the Strawberry Queen and Miss Westland Festival pageants, if only we'd known of your plight sooner. We think it's just a national disgrace that you can't find an appropriate vacation spot, not owning a home and all.

Well, nevertheless...there are still plenty of summertime activities in the area that you and your family can enjoy. We've even made a list with a tentative schedule for you, to ensure that you don't miss any of the excitement our area has to offer.

And we guarantee that nobody will think you are elitist or above-the- people with the activities we have planned. We'll treat you just like family...

So pack up Hillary, Chelsea and Socks and come on up to Michigan, the water wonderland. We guarantee you an unforgettable experience with some of the nicest folks you'd ever want to meet.

P.S:

If you're going to bring along that rag-tag bunch of secret service men, let us know. And if your Mom or brother, Roger, or half-brother, whatisname, will be joining us--we can accommodate them, too. Hey, we're just plain folks here. We will, however, have to let the guys at the fire hall know so they can add a few bunks and lay in some extra Cheerios.

Tell your Mom that the race track is just down the road a bit and we have karaoke in several local establishments where Roger could have a fine time--why, if we know ahead of time, we could probably get him a stint on the local cable public access shows.

Let us know, Mr. President. We'd be mighty glad to show you what a real vacation can be.

Vacation agenda,

1. Early morning jog at Canton Heritage Park - avoid duck droppings.
2. Visit to Inkster for look at real urban problems. Enjoy best grits in state.
3. Trip to Envotech Hydroponic Greenhouse.
4. Picnic at United Memorial Gardens visiting various attractions, including pet cemetery, country chapel and miniature bronze Statue of Liberty.
5. Shopping excursions to Meijer's and Kmart
6. Join Westland Mayor Bob Thomas for neighborhood walk.
7. Airport haircut for Bill. Visit to Fantastic Sam's for Chelsea - Saranda's Salon for Hillary.
8. Pontoon ride with Jacokes family on Belleville Lake.
9. Wayne-Metro Democratic Club Pig Roast.
10. Line dancing at Lucille's in Canton.

Y'all come Western Wayne County would welcome Clinton

By JOAN DYER-ZINNER
Belleville City Editor

George Bush had his Kennebunkport compound and Ronald Reagan had his Santa Barbara ranch retreat, but, apparently Bill Clinton doesn't have a presidential vacation spot - yet.

With the peak of the vacation season at hand, residents of western Wayne County are rallying behind the quest find a suitable sit for Bill, Hillary, Chelsea and Socks to relax and refresh from their daily cares.

"Clinton could come to Van Buren Township for the best vacation of his life," said Supervisor David Jacokes. "Bill and I could go fishing and we could take the family out on the pontoon boat or just sit by the water and watch the ducks."

Jacokes, whose home is on the lake, generously offered to put the Clintons up. Any overflow - Secret Service men or other members of his entourage - could take up residence in a tent on the veranda, the supervisor said.

"It's pretty safe here in Van Buren Township, so I don't think he'd need the Secret Service," said Jacokes.

In his bid for a presidential visit, Jacokes believes he holds a trump card - the stage at Van Buren Park where Clinton could present a saxophone concert. He would also ask the Ambassadors Choir from Belleville High School to sing along with Bill's sax numbers.

"My daughters could take Chelsea out to Van Buren Plaza and treat her to pizza at Domino's. We'd take Bill to Fantastic Sam's for a haircut while he was here, too," said Jacokes.

"Our dog, Ginger, is pretty tolerant, but if she and Socks didn't get along, Socks could visit with Treasurer Helen Foster and her cat, Julian," he said.

Foster said she would welcome the opportunity to ride mountain bikes along the trails at Van Buren Park with Hillary. Foster would also inform her guests about the ways in which Van Buren Township is an environmentally proactive community.

"We'd treat the Clintons to some Michigan products - Sanders fudge sauce, Vernors ginger ale and Stroh's ice cream," said Foster. "Maybe, Hillary would bring some of her cookies as a hostess gift and we could serve them with ginger ale, ice cream and fudge."

"If the president has any questions about the area, he could check with Al Gore's parents. They visited Van Buren Township prior to the election and they just loved it," said Jacokes.

Where would you advise the Clinton family to spend their summer vacation?

Lindsay Pancoast, 9,
Fourth-grader
They could go to the Detroit Zoo and see the dinosaur exhibit.

Chris Pancoast, 13,
Eighth-grader
Belleville. They could go boating and fishing and we have good pizza, too.

Leonard Armstrong
Business owner
Maryland. It's peaceful and tranquil near the ocean, and its near the Naval Academy.

Carol Bird
Belleville realtor
He could swim, boat and relax on Belleville Lake and have peace and quiet. I could find him a house.

Edna McLaughlin
Canton senior volunteer
I like California, near Sacramento, and Pennsylvania. I think the Clintons would like them, too.

Gary Sampson,
Travel agent
I'd send him on a circle tour of Michigan. He could see the Detroit area, Frankenmuth, cross the Mighty Mac and visit the Copper Country.

history both sides have faced a labor issue together, said UBC Local 1234 President Buck Walters. Violence and alleged arson of new structures utilizing non-union laborers have typically highlighted past relationships between the two sides.

"We're assisting morally," Walters said Thursday. "We've seen an effort (by builders) to break the (carpenters) union for almost a decade, and with that has been a general lowering of wages and quality. We want to send a message that workers are tired of allowing one or two people to make all the profit and everyone else is left with pennies and no benefits."

Toreson said since carpenters walked off the Glengarry site last Tuesday dozens of unionized tradesmen from surrounding new home sites have stopped by to show support and walk picket lines.

"I know that for a bottle of wine and $50 I could catch a bullet for this," Toreson half-jokingly said. "But you can only take so much. It was time for me to set my tools down and make a stand."

Builders representing Lenwa, Richard Lewiston and Pulte Homes did not return telephone inquiries from The Associated Newspapers. Each developer has new homes sites in Glengarry.

Police spokeswoman Tamie Colling said strikers will be allowed to continue picketing "as long as they don't interfere with the flow of traffic."

Opinion

Once more, with feeling

The time is now.

We know, you have heard it before. We've attempted to communicate the message many times and in many ways, but we're determined not to stop until we're successful. Perhaps our persistence will pay off.

The time to register to vote is now. Now, when there is no pressing election or issue facing us. Now, when some areas are beginning to contemplate the date for a primary election. Now, as local school districts are seriously considering placing a millage question on the ballot. Now, before too many other things get in the way, we urge all our citizens who may not be registered to vote to make a trip to the local municipal clerk's office and do so.

There will be no long lines. The offices are air-conditioned and the clerk is not facing a crisis situation at this time of year. Things are relatively calm. Staff members will help those registering and explain the exact location of polling places and dates of upcoming elections. Personal service with a smile is guaranteed.

Clerks, more than many other elected officials, fully understand the importance of registering voters. They welcome you.

What better incentive can we offer? Well, you will be able to exercise your options later this year. You will have an impact on the way your home is taxed and how much you pay. You will be a voice in determining how much money is spent to educate children in your local school district. You can decide who serves on your city council and who sits in the office of mayor in your city.

That's a lot of power to be gained from one short trip to city or Township Hall. During the recent school board elections in local districts, only a small percentage of voters took advantage of this opportunity to make these decisions.

Even this small turnout was such a marked improvement, one district considered a 20 percent turnout of voters a record. We don't agree.

We want everyone to exercise their obligation to vote—to perpetuate the system which is, while flawed, the best in the world.

Do it this week. Next time, let's make it a real landslide.

3 loud cheers

The Westland Festival just completed another year under the direction of the Westland Festival Committee and chairman Ed Wager.

We think a loud burst of applause for the committee members and Mr. Wager is in order. They began their 11-month planning for this event last year and will begin again next month charting the course of the festival next year.

The festival, like the Strawberry Festival in Belleville, drew crowds from throughout the area. That event, under the direction of the Strawberry Festival Committee members and President Tom Bowles and Executive Director Angela Power was also a rousing success.

And, the local police chiefs who are charged with the safety of festival visitors and operators also deserve a cheer and a vote of confidence. They schedule officers and listen to the complaints of lost children, dog bites and over-intoxication with the patience and wisdom only experience can bring. The officers they send also exude an aura of patience and community spirit which can only come from the top.

And lastly, a cheer for those in the community who visit the festivals and demonstrate a sense of neighborhood spirit that really is one of our national treasures.

To each and to all, thank you. You make our community the special place it is.

A LANDSLIDE AIN'T WHAT IT USED TO BE...!!

Private funding of school band, sports supported

To the editor:

The idea of pay-for-play sports in the schools has surfaced again. This time the education establishment and their monopoly unions are going to try to use it to force a massive tax increase down the throats of the property owners. Sports and band programs are relatively cheap compared to, say, teacher salaries or administration costs. The education establishment know that sports and band are popular with many parents and with the kids. By threatening to cut these cheap but popular programs, the education establishment can enlist legions of sports and band boosters into the crusade for ever higher property taxes. If successful, the vast bulk of the tax increase will go to fund already bloated teacher salaries and further layers of administration.

Some athletic boosters seem to think that sports and band programs could be financed outside the school budget entirely. Many sports and band enthusiasts think that they could finance the programs by holding fund raisers, selling candy bars, and getting backing and support from local businesses. This idea has merit. However, the thought of private financing for sports and band terrifies the education monopoly and their unions. The threat of canceling sports and band is one of the best tricks the education establishment has to get people to vote for financing the establishment's already bloated salary and benefit package. Without the threat of canceling sports and band, what is left? Little or nothing.

By neutralizing the sports and band ploy, the education establishment will be forced to stand or fall on their own merits. Voters will be able to judge the public education monopoly on their performance. Are they spending the tax money wisely? Are the children being educated, or is school just a publicly financed baby sitting service? Do we really want a millage increase for teacher salaries that are already well over $50,000 per year? What about the low test scores?

The private funding of school sports and band is the best idea I have heard in years. I urge everyone to support it.

LETTERS

In the fall, the education monopoly will try again to get us to raise our property taxes by $6 to $7 million per year—supposedly to keep sports and band. I say that is nonsense. For that kind of money, we could fly in the New York Philharmonic Orchestra to perform at the football games. So buy a candy bar—you'll save a bundle on your next tax bill, plus you'll force the public education monopoly to get real in their tax demands on our cash poor community.

Proposal A statement blasted

To the editor:

Mr. Thomas is missing the boat in his surmises of voters' reaction to Proposal A. Mr. Thomas said, "I think it's just an anti-tax feeling that people have throughout our state—throughout our country really." This remark indicates that Mr. Thomas hasn't got a clue as to what the people are truly thinking.

Mr. Thomas, wake up and smell the coffee. Yes, people are tired of high taxes, but people will no longer blindly follow their leaders, especially if they weren't elected. The Westland voters are not anti-schools. Quite the opposite is true. However, people are demanding accountability and honesty. People have learned the hard way not to trust media hype. The more something is advertised, the more suspicious people become.

Also, people are more alert than in the past. People have learned that when a proposal says the legislature "may" take lottery money and apply it to the schools that there is no substance. It's pie-in-the-sky. The people want a guarantee. Make it "all lottery profits will be separate from all other state monies and will be transmitted within 10 days of availability to the State of Michigan Secretary of Education to be immediately apportioned to the schools according to the following formula."

A statement like that people will believe. It is straightforward and honest. Further, people feel betrayed in the past. We have voted for specific use millages in the past and the funds have not been used as we were told.

An oral contract is as good as the paper it's written upon. Put it in writing, honest and straightforward and let the people decide. The people of Westland have always been, are now, and will be strongly supportive of good education. What we won't be is led like sheep down the path to the slaughterhouse of financial ruin.

Commencement prayers are supported

To the editor:

I would like to commend Mrs. Graham for opposing the atheistic notion that there should be no prayers allowed at commencement exercises.

The first amendment to the U.S. Constitution protects our freedom of religion, nor freedom from religion. The framers of the constitution did not want one sect of Christianity favored over another. That was the clear intent of the first amendment.

In 1962, when Madelyn Murray O'Hair had God kicked out of the schools, atheism was the religious belief of a mere 3 percent of the population. Why was the religion of the minority forced on the majority?

But the question in our country has never been one of majority rule. We live in a constitutional republic. The U.S. Constitution does not cover education, as that is in the jurisdiction of state government.

The Michigan Constitution was amended in 1963. Please get out your copy for the lawyers and read the first section of Article 8 on education: "Encouragement of education. Sec. 1. Religion, morality, and knowledge being necessary to good government and the happiness of mankind, schools and the means of education shall forever be encouraged."

In other words, the proposal to get rid of prayer is actually a violation of the state constitution. Maybe we need a new lawyer, one who knows our constitution.

Alternate tax reform offered

To the editor:

We have learned many lessons from the controversy surrounding Proposal A. We need a new plan to reform school financing. This plan must be easy to understand, it should not require a vote of the people, and it should be funded by a tax which would be deductible from the federal income tax.

I have submitted such a plan to the governor and the state legislature. THE VANDERMOLLEN PLAN includes the following:

1. Property taxes for school operating purposes would be totally eliminated.

2. Bonding mills would remain in place until the debt is retired.

3. Assessments would be frozen at a permanent freeze.

4. The state income tax would be increased to provide enough revenue to finance basic minimum funding at $5,000 per student in each district.

We need strong support for this plan. Write to your state representative at P.O. Box 30014, and to your state senator at P.O. Box 30036, Lansing, 48909.

Larry D. Vandermolen, PH.D.

Recycling is supported

To the editor:

The environment is being ruined every day. The only way we can change this is for us to help clean it up.

One way is simply to recycle office paper. If we recycle one tone of office paper we can save seventeen live trees. Can you imagine what one business can do in a year! Now multiply that times a thousand businesses and you have a lot of trees saved.

If you had a full-scale recycling program in every school district, just think of all those trees you would save. Probably the whole rain forest.

Another way we can change for the better is to step up our litter laws. Increase the fines and enforce the litter laws. This would eliminate a lot of the garbage on the streets and put revenue into the city general fund. The litter law now is up to a $500 and/or 90 days in jail. This needs to be enforced and it is very difficult for the police to do this without cooperation from the public.

We have to think about the future for our kids. If it is pollution we leave them in, they will not live too long. So let's try and work together and clean up our environment.

Airport haircut can be quick

CLINTON

By AL POST
ANP Staff Writer

President Bill Clinton is a busy man.

He is even forced to order haircuts on the run(way) at well known airports across the U.S.

Detroit Metro Airport is equipped for such presidential emergencies, Herb Kulzer, operator of the Metro Airport Barber shop in the North Terminal, said Thursday.

"We guarantee first we will not hold up traffic," Kulzer smiled. Clinton was roasted by the national press when claims that his haircut at Los Angeles Airport closed two runways.

"But I only have three seats besides the barber chair in the shop here, so some of Clinton's bodyguards may have to wait outside."

Metro rates are far below the $200 it cost Clinton in Los Angeles," Kulzer explained. "In fact it will only cost $8 for the haircut-no matter how tough the hairstyle. Shaves and shampoos cost extra however!"

Metro Airport Barber Shop is open from 7 a.m. to 8 p.m. on weekdays and 8 a.m. to 2 p.m. on Saturdays.

"If the President flies in on Sundays all he has to do is call me and I'll drive in and cut his hair," Kulzer promised.

Remember Mr. President-Metro Airport is in Romulus. You were quoted during the 1992 campaign as saying such...the first such presidential candidate to acknowledge that fact.

Realtor Carol Bird of Carol Bird & Associates agrees that the Belleville area would be a good place to swim, boat and relax.

"Belleville would be a good place to relax in peace and quiet. He could use Belleville as a base to visit the other areas and then return."

"If Clinton wanted to purchase a vacation home, I'm sure we could find one for him. We definitely have some lovely homes for sale," said Bird.

"A presidential visit would be a boost to the town. It would spark things up," said Bird's mother, Georgetta Houston, a 14-year resident of Belleville.

"If Clinton came to Belleville, he could see how the middle-class people live in a small, midwest town," Houston said. "It would be a good op-

A presidential visit would be a boost to the town. It would spark things up.

"There's good boating and fishing in Belleville," said Chris Pancoast. "We've got good pizza here, too."

Leonard Armstrong, owner of Armstrong's Funland in Van Buren Township, doesn't think Belleville Lake is large enough for the presidential party.

"Maryland would be a good vacation spot for him. It's tranquil and peaceful on the ocean," said Armstrong.

Canton Township Senior Center volunteer Edna McLaughlin believes the president and his family might enjoy visiting the places where she vacations each year.

"I go to Vacaville, Cal., for two months each year, and it's a beautiful place to visit. I also enjoy visiting family members in Pennsylvania and Deerfield, Ill.," McLaughlin said.

Plenty of food, fun at Metro Pig Roast

By MARGO DEWEY
ANP Feature Editor

If President Bill Clinton came to the City of Wayne for his holiday vacation, he and his family would definitely be treated to an old-fashioned family outing with the Metro Wayne Democratic Club.

Cliff Johnson, Metro Wayne Democratic president, said he would take the Clinton family to the annual Democratic pig roast at Attwood Park.

"We would have roast pig with cole slaw and spaghetti salad," Johnson said. "We would probably also give the president corn on the cob and a taco salad."

The Democratic pig roast is known for having quality entertainment. Johnson said he would have his son C.J. perform his unique Neil Diamond impersonation show.

"I would also have my wife Marie sing for the president," Johnson said. "She sings Barbra Streisand and Neil Diamond songs very well."

If the first lady decides she wants to shop a little during her visit, Johnson said his wife would take Hillary to Meijers or Kmart.

"We're working class people, and what people seem to forget is the president is a human being just like everybody else," Johnson said. "I think he would appreciate anything we would have to offer him."

Johnson said he would also give the President and his family a grand tour of the City of Wayne.

Clinton can jog in Canton

The president's penchant for an early morning jog would be easily satisfied with a visit to Canton Township.

Recreation Supervisor Bob Dates said Clinton would be more than welcome on paved walkways in the Heritage Park area behind Township Hall.

One particularly attractive jogging/walking/rollerblading path, Dates said, features a cushy ribbon of asphalt around a large pond.

Adding a special touch, Dates said he would order Fleetwood Mac music piped in to outdoor restroom facilities.

Neonatology unit offers special care for high-risk infants

We can handle almost any problem in the immediate newborn period. And, respiratory problems, in general, are the more common thing that we see.

Dr. Thomas Malone

Annapolis Hospital in Wayne recently had two new arrivals, but they each weigh a little more than 8 pounds.

The hospital has officially opened a state-certified Neonatal Intensive Care unit with Dr. Thomas Malone acting as the corporate director of Neonatology.

Malone joined Annapolis June 14. As a neonatologist, he specializes in the study and care of newborn infants up to 6 weeks of age.

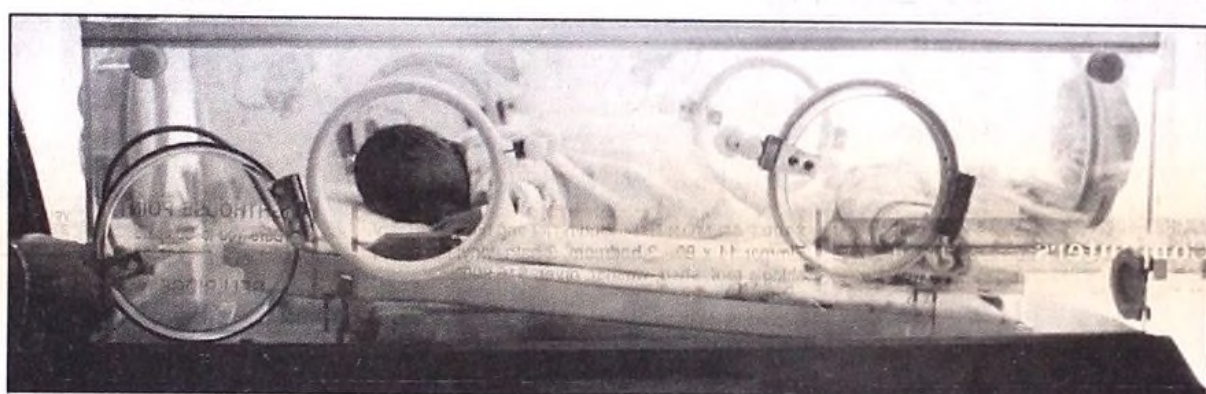

The birth of the new facility is geared toward reducing infant mortality rates in the western Wayne County area as well as offering parents enhanced technology and convenience.

"Basically when you get into trouble with babies it's during the delivery process, and you are not expecting a problem," Malone said. "Or, when a mother is high risk, and you are expecting a problem so the team is ready."

"The facilities here are geared up for providing emergency services to stabilize any baby who is sick during the delivery process whether you are expecting it or not."

The Neonatal unit also has advanced equipment and machinery for personnel to stabilize and take care of the baby once the infant is born.

"Probably one of the more common things we see are premature births, and no one really knows the reason for prematurity," Malone said.

"But, that is a more frequent reason for getting admitted into the intensive care unit."

"And, because of prematurity, they tend to have respiratory problems so you can support them with oxygen or with a ventilator."

A recent study on infant mortality rates indicates they are influenced directly by socioeconomic factors such as unemployment, the number of households below the poverty line, access to prenatal care and the number of high-risk pregnancies.

High-risk pregnancies can occur to women under 18 years old, women who smoke, drink or use illegal substances or women with pre-existing medical conditions such as diabetes, hypertension, genetic conditions or HIV.

"We can handle almost any problem in the immediate newborn period," Malone said. "And, respiratory problems, in general, are the more common thing that we see."

Michigan has the eighth highest infant mortality rate (IMR) in the nation. The Wayne County IMR was 8.4 per 1,000 births in 1991.

The City of Wayne had 324 births in 1991 with four resulting in death. The Wayne IMR was 12.4 per 1,000 births in 1991.

Has technology and education really improved the IMR within the last two decades?

"The first major accomplishment over the years was ventilators that can ventilate babies, put them on support for artificial ventilation with high enough pressures they need in order to sustain life," Malone said. "That was the first advance that happened in the 1970s."

"The thing that has happened more recently and has really made a difference is the availability of surfactant which is the chemical in the lungs which keeps the lungs open. Premature babies are deficient in surfactant, and that's why they have respiratory problems."

Today, doctors now have the ability to give premature babies surfactant through a tube which increases the survival of small babies, according to Malone.

"Basically when you have a baby who is 28 weeks, roughly about 1,000 grams which is a little over 2 pounds, five years ago more than half of those babies died, and now 80 to 85 percent of those babies are surviving on the average nationally," Malone said.

The Neonatal Intensive Care unit consists of two rooms. The facility has the ability to take care of 10 intensive care babies at one time.

"When we get up to 10 babies, the two rooms will be used where the sicker kids will be in one room, and the more intermediate kids will be in the other room."

Construction on the unit began in 1991 and was completed in 1992. The goal was to facilitate the needs of the surrounding communities, according to Charles Bruhn, vice president and administrator for Annapolis.

"What we looked at was two stand points with one being the community need and what is currently going on with the infant mortality rate," Bruhn said. "We also wanted to provide a comprehensive service that would allow the mother to have her baby here in a conve-Cindy Bobin and newborn son, Paul, are grateful for the new neo-natal unit at Annapolis Hospital.

Annapolis is the second hospital within the Oakwood health care system to establish a Neonatal Intensive Care unit, according to Bruhn. Oakwood Hospital also houses similar technology to Annapolis in a more enhanced setting.

"What Oakwood is trying to do is provide the services that are available at Oakwood Hospital at Annapolis," Malone said. "Both will be used to sort of mesh. For instance, if Oakwood is busy and needs some extra beds, and Annapolis can handle those children, then they will be sent here."

Malone said both hospitals will be able to cater to the needs of the patients.

"The other thing too is the resources you need for this kind of a program are very scarce," Bruhn said. "Neonatologists are difficult to find. We're very proud to have Dr. Malone heading this. The other advantage to our approach is we can collectively offer much more than one type of facility."

Westland resident Cindy Bobin is very pleased with the new Neonatal unit. She recently had her first child, Paul, who was born prematurely, 10 weeks early, at 3 pounds, 5 ounces June 12.

"It's really wonderful here," Bobin said. "I live 2 1/2 miles away, and it has been very convenient. Everyone is excellent here."

Hot Walker concert planned

By MARGO DEWEY
ANP Feature Editor

They are the heart throbs of western Wayne County.

Their popular modern country music has been heard by thousands of fans throughout the U.S.

On July 15 area residents will be able to enjoy the unique four-part harmony of the Hot Walker band at the amphitheater in Goudy Park 7:30 p.m.

The band covers all aspects of showmanship, including superb instrumentals, excellent vocals and harmonies.

They have opened for and performed with various musical stars including Bob Seger, Ted Nugent and Alice Cooper, according to band leader Paul Wiley.

The band was formed in 1985 with Wiley (bass guitar and vocalist) and James Snipes (keyboards and bass vocal).

"Mark (Cornell-lead guitar, fiddle) and James and I got together in 1989," Wiley said. "Rick Taylor (drums, vocalist) joined us in 1992. Kevin McKay (harmonica, vocalist) assists us in concerts."

"We play a wide variety of modern country music including some original pieces we've created."

Winning the Marlboro Country Music Talent Round-Up in 1989 motivated the band to set their sights on Nashville. Since then, band members have showcased their talent in Nashville for Tullis Tunes, Polygram Records and RCA Records.

"Our favorite show throughout the years has been opening for Alabama at the Palace," Wiley said. "It was a tremendous experience. They were sold out that night."

The Hot Walker band is the only group in the history of the TNN program, Be A Star to make it to their grand championship finals.

In 1992, they were voted Metro Detroit Number One Country Music band and were chosen to represent country at the First Annual Motor City Music Awards.

Hot Walker has performed for numerous radio and television shows including Kelly and Co.

"Our goal is to make a recording career," Wiley said. "We've already been making several trips to Nashville. We'll be in the studio recording at the end of the month."

The Hot Walker band would ultimately like to play at the Grand Ole Opry one day.

"Right now we hope residents living in and around the Wayne area will come out and enjoy our show at the amphitheater," Wiley said.

The concert is free to the public. Upcoming performances at the amphitheater include: Charlie G's Jazz Band 7:30 p.m. July 22 and Jim Probe Dance 7:30 p.m. July 29.

On July 11 a Motown Festival has been scheduled which will include the Harmonix and Street Corner, the Dancing

Cousins, tie dying, caricature drawing and a cookout by the Kiwanis Club.

For event times, phone 721-7400.

Wheels

The ride of a lifetime

By CRAIG GARRETT
ANP Staff Writer

Who are these people and where do they come from?

We're talking about Lexus' design and engineering team that put together the latest edition to the luxury automakers 1993 line-up—the GS 300. Get real.

This sophisticated four-door sedan, featuring a (I say) Mercedes-like low-ground effect, distinctive high rear-end look (Lexus says Italian-like because of the preliminary model design submitted by Giorgetto Giugiaro) coupled with the best interior and ride Japanese car builders have to offer, is simply one of the finest vehicles on the road today.

Powered by a twin-cam 24-valve V6 boasting some 220 horsepower, or 0-60 in 8.5 seconds, GS 300 also offers the added luxury of reasonable mileage at around 20 mpg (of course, if you can write a check for $40,000 who cares). Personally, this may be the minority view, GS 300 power is ample enough for smooth highway blending speeds, but less heart-stopping than crushing Northstar V8 power offered by Seville STS and Eldorado. If you want a gut-wrencher, buy a Corvette. Once again, only an opinion.

Double wishbone suspension, plus engine, power steering, differential and added suspension subframe mounting, further enhance a ride that "elegant" (Toyota's word) best sums up, even on unpaved back roads.

Yet handling, with ABS, traction control and 15-inch Goodyears, is good with the aid of stabilizer bars and standard speed sensitive rack-and-pinion steering equipment.

Inside GS 300 features the typical Lexus environment that has earned the Toyota luxury manufacturer number one customer satisfaction ratings almost since the day the line was introduced a couple of years back. The driver is encased in walnut and leather with power adjustments ad nauseam. A seven-speaker Nakamichi stereo system, featuring a three-position power antenna and cassette scan, are standard. Because GS 300 rides so infinitely quiet, each bell "ting" and bass throb gives drivers the sense of sitting right in the middle of Detroit Symphony Orchestra concerts at the Fox.

Come on. What'll you think of next, Lex?
